GOV. GREEN TO VISIT CAMP GRAYLING

MAYOR INVITES HIM TO GRAYLING

Fred W. Green, governor of Michigan, is to be a guest of the officers and men of Michigan National Guard over the coming week end. On Saturday evening a ball will be given in the officers' clubhouse in his honor.

Gov. Green at one time was brigadier general of Michigan National Guard and has always had a keen interest in the affairs of that organization. While this will not be his first visit to Camp Grayling, it will be his first official visit.

We have heard of no arrangements being made for his appearance in Grayling, but trust that the people of this community may be privileged to hear him while he is in this community. Mr. Green received a very large vote in Grayling and Crawford county both in the primary and in the fall elections and he would be sure to meet with a hearty reception.

Mayor Petersen Invites Governor To Speak in Grayling

Hon. Fred W. Green, Governor.

Dear Sir:

It gives me extreme pleasure to extend to you the greetings of the people of Grayling, and invite you to come to town and give our people an opportunity to meet and hear you. A meeting may be held in courtyard square at any time that may suit your convenience.

We shall be very happy to hear that you will accept this invitation. Sincerely yours,

H. Petersen, Mayor.

Not only a great enterprise, but a marvelous enterprise, our American railroad organization. Stop for a moment to reflect how many people would get hit if anything hit it.

And so the earth is losing speed. Well, that sounds hopeful. Perhaps it is on the up-grade.

WHY CLOSE DEER SEASON

Several counties have closed territory against the deer hunter or are contemplating such a move, some for a term of 5 years. Is the move because of an emergency that deer are nearing extinction? Or is it that the hunters from the closed counties would get their deer from some other county?

Perhaps a "live deer" is worth more than a dead one, but it seems the deer in our county are worth just as much, "dead" or "alive" as those in other counties. But it does not seem that they are nearing extinction or that there is a cause for an appeal to close under the discretionary power act. We may anticipate that our quota of hunters will increase because of the selfish attitude of the closed counties, but as we see it this does not constitute an emergency. Our deer have steadily increased under the one-buck law and during this time our legislature has been in session several times, we have not seen any legislation to protect our deer because we know they are steadily increasing. To take advantage of the discretionary power act now would be from a selfish or "get even" standpoint.

Michigan is one state only, it should either be open or all closed. Wherever there has been deer, during the past 10 years, they have increased.

The fees paid by deer hunters is a considerable item to conservation and why should we ask some other fee or tax to bear this burden when the deer are one of the few species of game that are increasing.—Roscommon Herald-News.

STATE TO AID IN WINTER SPORTS

Marius Hanson was one of a special committee of three from the Northern Michigan Winter Sports Association to call on the State Conservation Commission at Lansing last week. He reports that the Commission is deeply interested in such sports and that he is satisfied that that department will render assistance in the promotion of winter sports during the coming winter season.

Grayling is one of the pioneers in putting on winter sports and is sure to be one of the very foremost regions in Michigan along that line. Lake Margrethe furnishes a delightful place for all kinds of winter sport, including ice tobogganing, that was so eminently successful last season, skiing, snowshoeing, skating, ice boating and fishing through the ice.

It cost the people of Grayling over $300 last year for their toboggan slide which afforded the public a lot of pleasure. This expense was sustained by a comparative few while scores who used the slide did not pay anything. The desire for winter outdoor entertainment is growing fast and it is up to the communities that are so fortunate as to possess natural advantages to improve them. A few weeks ago the Avalanche published a long list of suggestions offered by Arthur W. Stace on outdoor winter sports. There is almost nothing that he suggested that cannot be easily provided here.

It may be that the mills of the gods grind slowly because they get paid for overtime.

ALL GUARDSMEN NOW IN CAMP

TRAINING FOR ALL REGIMENTS BEGAN TUESDAY, 5,000 MEN IN CAMP

With the arrival of the 119th Field Artillery Tuesday from Lansing, under the command of Colonel Joseph H. Lewis, Camp Grayling is at its full strength of approximately 5,000 officers and enlisted men. Monday, training for all troops began, Detroit's 132nd motorized heavy artillery regiment, taking the field, ending with three days on the rifle range with their 155 mm. Howitzers. The rattle of rifle fire drifting in the air and the roaring sounds of the machine guns show that intensive training has begun.

First Lieutenant M. L. Jennings, regular army instructor in chemical warfare, arrived Monday and began Tuesday his work of instructing officers and men in his branch of the military art. Lieutenant Jennings, who has recently returned from three years' service in the Philippine Islands, will demonstrate various phases of chemical warfare and will lecture to the troops. He will instruct in gas mask drill and also demonstrate with smoke candles and other chemical warfare agents.

The soldier of the Michigan National Guard in camp who displays the highest degree of proficiency in wearing the uniform, care and condition of his equipment and knowledge of his branch of the service will be awarded the Stewart medal. The medal is given each year and is a memorial of the late General Earl R. Stewart, former commander of the Sixty-third infantry brigade.

The medal is of solid gold, suspended by a ribbon from a gold bar, engraved to denote the significance of the award and the name of the winner. Elimination trials will be held August 13 and the medal will be awarded to a soldier August 14, during the review of the troops, to be presented by Gov. Green, who will be a guest at the camp.

The big regimental review, which is a very colorful affair, will be held Sunday afternoon, starting at 1:30 o'clock Eastern Standard Time, and will be witnessed by close to 20,000 people, as several excursion trains and hosts of visitors, who come each year to witness this spectacle, will be present.

The Review will be held before Gov. Green, General Wilson, and their staffs.

THE BIRD MEN ARRIVE

The whirring and roaring of air-planes and the sight of planes in the air has become a frequent matter about Grayling. The new landing field at T-Town received its baptism Saturday afternoon when four of Uncle Sam's planes dropped down out of the clouds to take up quarters for two weeks.

General Wilson and his staff officers and officers of Wisconsin National Guard and hundreds of local citizens were present to witness the arrival of the planes and to welcome the flyers.

The air squadron is under command of Major Evans. Other officers of the squadron are as follows: Capt. Squire, Capt. Anderson, Capt. Norwich, Lieut. Brown, Lieut. Ogden, Lieut. Kaley, Lieut. O'Neil, all of the 32nd Division Air Service. Lieut. Ogden is specially distinguished for being one of the famous "Round the World" flyers.

It is needless to say that this branch of the National Guard is attracting special attention. The flyers have spent most of the time in the air and have given some thrilling demonstrations of what may be done with the planes. At times the planes fly low and almost sweep the tree tops, while at other times they assume more lofty altitudes. They fly singly and in formations and at times do some very thrilling stunts. At almost any time one may look up and see some "Bird" man doing the loop-the-loop, the nose dive or other daring acts.

The landing field is proving a great success and is already proclaimed to be one of the best in the state. Improvements will be made from year to year, and this place is certain to be most popular with flyers and affords the only landing field for flyers between Saginaw and Cheboygan. In another year a fueling station will be built at the field for the convenience of the visitors. At present fuel is being delivered there by trucks.

Primarily the airmen are here to cooperate with the National Guard and are giving their attention to practice with the anti-aircraft organization.

FOUR CHANGES MADE IN ELECTION CODE

The legislative session of 1927 made comparatively few changes in the election code and these not of large importance. Altogether twelve bills on the subject were passed, and of these Gov. Fred W. Green vetoed four. The four vetoes were for minor amendments to the code. Of the eight that became laws only four make changes worth while keeping in mind. They are:

Designates the first Tuesday after the first Monday in September as primary day instead of the second Wednesday of the month. This will bring the primaries several days earlier.

Provides that primary nominating petitions must be filed by the fifth Tuesday before election, not a given number of days as the code now reads.

Provides for three members of the state central committee for each congressional district, one to be a woman.

Provides that delegates to county conventions must file nominating petitions and have their names printed on the ballots.

Dog Days

GUARD OFFICERS VISIT COUNCILMEN

A semi-formal meeting of the Common Council and General Guy M. Wilson and his staff and Wisconsin officers of the 32nd Division was held in the court room of the Court House Sunday afternoon.

The formalities consisted of an address of welcome by Mayor Hans Petersen and response by Gen. Wilson. With the above exceptions the meeting was anything except formal and was just a chummy time when the visitors and our city fathers might talk over matters pertaining to the general welfare of Grayling and the National Guard officers and men.

Restrictions were thrown to the winds and although there were no serious problems to thresh over, a number of matters were brought up for discussion.

Mayor Petersen said in his address that he had called upon Col. LeRoy Pearson at the camp that morning, at which time they made plans to have General Wilson and his fellow officers attend a meeting of the Common Councilmen at the Court House that afternoon where all would have an opportunity to meet and get acquainted.

"I wish you a hearty welcome," the Mayor said, "and when I say that, I know that I am backed up not only by our own people but by the people of the surrounding country. We are always glad when we can hurry to finish our duties so that we may go to camp to meet old friends and to make new ones." Mayor Petersen referred to his official greeting that had already been published.

His Honor expressed the wish that the people of Grayling might be favored at least once each week with a concert by one of the military bands; and further requested that the city officials and sheriff be granted permits for visiting the camp at any time.

Gen. Wilson Replies
Gen. Wilson, in behalf of himself and the Michigan National Guard, thanked Mr. Petersen and the people of Grayling for their cordial welcome and assured their hearty appreciation. He said that it would be a privilege to give the people of Grayling as many band concerts as they cared for and would see that arrangements were made for them. And, addressing Col. LeRoy Pearson, quartermaster general and chief of staff, asked that camp passes be issued to the local officials.

General Wilson was accompanied by his staff officers and by officers of the 32nd Division of Wisconsin. There was a very pleasant informal visit for an hour between the gentlemen present that was greatly enjoyed. The visiting Wisconsin officers expressed themselves as being delighted with the Grayling camp.

ROAD TRAFFIC HEAVY SUNDAY

Under management of the County Road Commission a toll of the traffic on the trunk line highways in this region was taken Sunday. The travel to Lake Margrethe was in excess of any of the other highways, with a record of 2,843 cars in 24 hours.

The official figures, as recorded in the highway department, are as follows:

U. S. 27—Grayling to Gaylord, 1,786
Grayling to Roscommon, 2,030
M-99—Grayling to L. Margrethe, 2,843
Co. Road—Frederic to Lovells, 227
Kalkaska Road, 217
County Line to Higgins Lake, 448
The toll of the highways will be taken again next Sunday.

HAGENBECK-WALLACE CIRCUS COMING TO PETOSKEY

Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, proclaimed as the foremost trained wild animal show of the universe, will shortly be in our midst. Billers have finished their work through this territory and bright and highly colored posters tell of the coming of Hagenbeck-Wallace to Petoskey on Aug. 22. Many new innovations have been created by Hagenbeck-Wallace for the 1927 tour. "The Geisha," said to be the greatest musical spectacle ever produced, will open the exhibition, while "Blazing Glory," a patriotic presentation, will bring the program to a close. Several hundred characters appear in "The Geisha," and the wardrobe and costuming is said to be the most pretentious of any circus spectacle.

The Hagenbeck standard in trained wild animal numbers has also been maintained and such noted subjugators as Clude Beatty, Capt. Bernard and Bob MacPherson will send their jungle charges through sensational routines in the big steel arenas. In addition to the wild animal groups, there will be displays of domestic beasts. Several groups of Liberty horses will appear in the rings, while the hippodrome track will be the scene of a Horse Show, second to none. Forty singing girls and forty prancing steeds, appear in one display.

Other noted features include the Orrin Davenport Family of Equestrians, the Ward-Kimball Troupe of Flyers and Cheerful Gardner and the original Hagenbeck elephants. Plenty of clowns, to be exact, fifty, will work all during the performances which start promptly at 2 p. m. and 8 p. m. The big double menagerie includes specimens from all portions of the globe, including highly valuable giraffes.

MILITARY BAND GIVES CONCERT

Prof. M. D. Jones, director, and his 126th Infantry band of Grand Rapids, gave a very enjoyable concert at the Court House band stand Wednesday evening. In spite of the fact that the town people did not know where they were coming, there was a large crowd out to enjoy the music, and the several numbers were well applauded. The 126th always appears in camp with a good band, and this year is no exception. The furniture city is also a musical city and has produced many excellent musicians, which makes possible such aggregations as come to camp with the 126th each year. Through the courtesy of their director, Mr. M. D. Jones, we present the program as rendered at the Wednesday night concert.

Concert Program
"Brooks Triumphant"
"Princess of India"
"There's Everything Nice About You"
"St. Julian"
"First Heart Throbs"
"Scout March"
"When You and I were Young, Maggie"
"Scenes from Opera-Land"
"An Autumn Romance"
"Let Me Call You Sweetheart"
"Victors"—March
"Star Spangled Banner"

After the concert the members of the band were invited by the Village Council, through their mayor, to the Board Trade room, where they were served with delicious sandwiches, coffee and smiles.

GOT AN INSPIRATION

Evidently the roll of the drums and the sight of uniforms awakened in some the feeling of "Wouldn't it be great to be a soldier?" For five Grayling boys have joined the Michigan National Guards in camp now at Camp Grayling. They are Amos Hoels, Laudy Harrison, Leo Furlay, Morgan Boyce and Ernest Cowan. The boys appear in uniform for the first time Monday and already have begun to appreciate the thrill of military training. Of course, we don't know if anyone of the boys is going to become a general or not, but we are sure they will all make fine soldiers anyway. This act is much to their credit.

NOTICE—TRAP SHOOTERS

To those wishing to participate in trap shooting: You are welcome to shoot at the Portage Lake trap shooting grounds, which will be open to shooting every week on Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock and on Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

SUMMER CARNIVAL TO BE BIG EVENT

GAMES, ENTERTAINMENT, CHOP SUEY SUPPER

As the big Summer Carnival to be given under the auspices of the ladies of St. Mary's church draws near, the many committees in charge are busy taking care of last minute details that will make it one of the most pleasant of the summer affairs. Tasty decorations will greet you on entering the big high school gymnasium, giving it the air of a large carnival grounds. Booths of fancy work and novelties, ice cream and pop, a fish pond, games for prizes, raffles, baskets and aluminum ware, have been nicely arranged and the carnival in general opens at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

Between the hours of 4:30 and 7:00 a real Chinese chop suey supper will be served, with music furnished by one of the military orchestras from Camp Grayling.

The program will begin at 5:30 o'clock and will be presented by talent from the Michigan National Guard and others. It will continue through the supper hour.

Through the courtesy of General Wilson, Col. Sink and Rev. Fr. Dunigan, some of the cleverest entertainers of the military camp, will contribute their services for the pleasure of the audience.

There will be vocal and instrumental music, vaudeville and other entertaining specialties. Also there will be a vocal solo by Miss Edelean Wood of Flint, who is a guest in Grayling of Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Michelson, and Miss Lois Kraus of Chicago will present a Spanish solo dance. Miss Kraus is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gottle A. Kraus, and is a guest at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Fritz Kraus.

Mrs. C. G. Clippert and Mrs. H. W. Wolff are in charge of the program.

In the evening a dancing party will take place, given by the Knights of Columbus. The orchestra playing. This will be park plan, and everybody is cordially invited. There is no admission charge to the carnival. Come and stay as long as you wish.

An invitation has been extended to Governor Green and his staff and Mayor Wilson and his staff to be guests of honor at the supper at 6:00 o'clock, and it is very much expected that they will attend.

PULL IN YOUR SPEED TOES, BOYS. MOTOR COP IS BACK

The "step-on-it" boys had better pull back their accelerator toes. The "Johns" are back on the job and speedsters who have been having things more than normally the way during the last while will have to watch their step or they will be due to appear before the Justice.

It isn't the speedsters that the state is making war on but the careless driver. Accidents are numerous and ninety-nine times out of one hundred, it is due to careless driving.

"One-Lighters"—That's the new term for a class of motorists on whom the Michigan state police are waging a vigorous campaign. With the summer flow of fishermen and resorters starting the trek into northern Michigan with a tremendous increase in the amount of traffic on the highways, the Michigan officers are at present centering their attention on the road-motorist with a single headlight. The troopers are merely warning, but are to stop talking and start arresting unless more cars start showing two headlights. "One headlight would be all right, if you only knew which side of the approaching car it was on," one trooper said. Until "one lighters" become standardized, two lights will have to show. There has been a regular epidemic of one-lighters recently and a number of accidents have been due to such faulty and confusing lighting.

Michleann Memorial Church

John Wilfred Greenwood, Minister

At 10:30 A. M. Sunday, August 14, the minister will speak on the theme, "The Spirit of Martha." This is the third message in the series on "A diagnosis of modern social conditions." We invite you to this service. At 7:00 P. M., League service led by Mr. Greenwood. Topic, "My Life-work—A Calling or a Job?" All young people invited to attend. At 8:00 P. M., the pastor will speak on the subject, "What the sky says to me." You can't afford to miss this happy hour of song and inspiration. You will find the evening service captivating and helpful. Be one of the family of worshippers at that time.

A Thought for the Week

Many have suggestions to offer as to the need of the Church. Probably our whole problem in Grayling, as well as anywhere else, is best illustrated in the remark of Wesley. He said, "If I had three hundred men who feared nothing but God, hated nothing but sin, and were determined to know nothing among men but Jesus Christ, and Him crucified, I would set the world on fire." The heathen convert in India has sent us this flaming line, "Send us men with hot hearts."

A personal query—"Have we come into such high fellowship with Jesus that like the disciples on the Emmaus road—we have felt our hearts strangely warm within us?"

TRAP SHOOTERS MAKE GOOD SCORES

Some very good scores were hung up at the Carl Michelson traps at Lake Margrethe Sunday morning. Mr. Michelson very modestly left his name off the score sheet but it is only fair to him to say that he had a perfect score, breaking 50 blue rocks in two strings of 25 each.

Holger Hanson was second with a record of 24 out of 25.

Following are the scores as taken from the records:

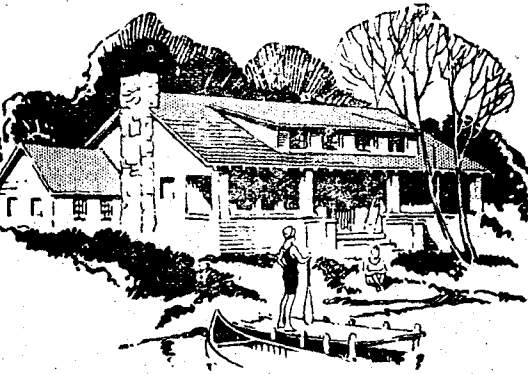

O. W. Hanson, 23 out of 25.
A. E. Michelson, 21 out of 25.
Marius Hanson, 21 out of 25.
Esbern Hanson, 21 out of 25.
Junior Hanson, 20 out of 25.
Henry Jordan, 18 out of 25.

In the added score event the result follows:
Henry Jordan +8 targets Total 20
Esbern Hanson +3 targets Total 23
M. Hanson +2 targets Total 24 (winner)

C. F. Michelson +1 targets Total 23
Hawk Hanson +2 targets Total 21
O. W. Hanson +2 targets Total 23
A. E. Michelson +3 targets Total 17
Junior Hanson +3 targets Total 23
There will be no shooting next Sunday.

BREAK YOUR MATCH TO HELP PREVENT FOREST FIRES

Watch a good woodsman light his pipe. He shakes the match out, feels it with his finger, and nine times out of ten will break it in two and then look for a safe place to throw it. A match can not be broken with ease and safety unless it is thoroughly out, and a match that is thoroughly out cannot start a fire. The carelessly flipped match is responsible for a considerable percentage of the disastrous fires both in city and forest. When you have finished lighting your pipe, your cigar, or cigarette, break the match in two pieces, cautions the Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Summer Cottages built this way are cool and comfortable

In no other way can so much comfort be built into a summer home for so little money as with Celotex Insulating Lumber.

This remarkable lumber, made from the long, tough fibres of cane, does what no ordinary building materials can do. It practically stops heat. It shuts out wind and moisture.

The comfortable coolness of a cottage built with Celotex is a delightful surprise. And if you want to use your cottage late in the season, Celotex will keep it snug and warm.

The cost of such a cottage is no more than the cost of one built with good lumber. Celotex is used for both exterior and interior finish. When painted, it will resist the weather quite as well as wood lumber. And it is much stronger in wall sections than wood. The broad, strong Celotex boards are easy to handle and apply. Sawed and nailed as wood lumber.

We sell and recommend Celotex. Ask us for sample and prices.

COOLIDGE'S ANNOUNCEMENT

The heavy thinkers of the metropolitan press are now engaged in an attempt to interpret the statement of President Coolidge: "I do not choose to be a candidate for President in 1928." It does not require much "interpretation." The President considers the presidential nomination. As between being and not being a candidate he makes a choice. That choice is against being a candidate.

With the nomination in his grasp, it is not probable that President Coolidge, were he insincere in his determination as has been intimated, would have opened the Pandora's box of numerous rival candidacies. It is possible, of course, that as the result of many such candidacies, the next Republican national convention may fall into such a deadlock that the call of duty may be sounded to President Coolidge—but that contingency seems so remote that it is very doubtful if it entered into the President's calculations.

The announcement of the President at least insures a lively political season as soon as the dog days are over. More than twenty men have been mentioned for the Democratic presidential nomination. As many will be mentioned for the Republican nomination. Probably a dozen will start. It will be a lively contest, and may the best man win.

AMERICAN OPPORTUNITY

A Georgia negro, who had been a slave in his youth, died at Atlanta recently leaving an estate of a million dollars, and what is still better, the esteem of all who had known him regardless of race.

He started as a barber in his early twenties and his industry and courteous manners won him the respect of his white customers who steadily grew in number. When he died he had many outside interests but retained his original shop which had grown from a one-man affair to one requiring the services of forty-two men. And this colored capitalist had more than seven hundred negroes working for him in one capacity or another at the time of his death.

There ought to be a lesson for all of us in this man's career. He did not have the priceless heritage of American liberty at the time of his birth. But by using industry and sound judgment coupled with courtesy and attendance to business he was able to make a success of his life under what to most of us would appear to be insurmountable difficulties.

The life of this negro is only another evidence of what can be done in America. Even the humblest child may later in life win some sort of success by proper attention to business. The qualities most required are honesty, industry, a reasonable amount of intelligence, and by staying on the job.

Opportunities are greater in America now than ever before. The country is expanding and developing in a way that was undreamed of a few years ago. All of this expansion and progress means new opportunities for American youth.

Surely if a man born in slavery with the handicap of color can win his way to success, there is no reason why the average American youth should feel afraid.

Ex-Lumberman Frank Buell, now of Detroit, formerly of Gaylord, with his two sons-in-law, James N. Crocker of Detroit, and Prof. Chas. White of Bay City, with their families, eleven people all told, were visitors at the H. C. County Clerk Charles Gierke returned Sunday night from a pleasant trip taking him to Adrian, Montpelier, Ohio, Ann Arbor, Clawson and Detroit. Mr. Gierke attended the nineteenth annual convention of the Michigan State Association of County Clerks that was held on August 3rd and 4th. He reports a very instructive and pleasant convention, including a fine banquet and plenty of entertainment.

Mr. Rasmus Hanson had a fine cherry tree in his garden that he was doing on, as it was filled with luscious fruit, and in order to keep the birds from getting the biggest share of the fruit, he put mosquito netting over the tree for protection. A few mornings ago he got his mouth all fixed for cherry pie and hid himself out into the garden to gather the fruit, but what was his consternation to find that some "son of a B" had feloniously entered his garden during the night and swiped all his lovely cherries.

During the electrical storm Saturday night the lightning played havoc about town. Colleen's restaurant was struck, the ball entering the side of the building burning a hole through it, and several in the vicinity of the building received severe shocks. Many homes along main street were without electricity for a few days, owing to the storm, and it is reported that a soldier was badly burned when the lightning traveling along one of the company streets at the State Military Reservation, entered the tent in which he was sleeping, proceeding down the entire row of tents, shocking many in its route. We have been having some severe electrical storms in this part of the country this year.

Farm Bureau Notes

R. D. Bailey, Co. Agricultural Agent

"The farming of the future must be done by men of broad training."
—Dean Alfred Vivian, Author of "First Principles of Soil Fertility."

Good Mark to Aim At

Mr. George Annis told the county agent on the 25th of June, that he was milking 18 cows, and would have two more cows fresh in a few days. He incidentally added that he raised enough hay to winter the whole herd, the young stock and the horses.

That's something like it for size of dairy herd and for raising your own roughage instead of paying out all you can take and scrape for it. Keep that hay money.

Good Home Improvements

At "Birchwood," the Eldorado farm home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Stevens, a Delco lighting system, a bathroom with running water, and a modern cement septic tank have recently been installed, largely by home labor. A good start in purebred dairy cattle has been made, too. Is this to be the last and only farm to put in home conveniences?

There are lots of things that we are not "too poor" to do on the farm.

Dragged It Thoroughly

On the State Demonstration Farm at Grayling, we dragged the alfalfa stubble with a spring-tooth drag, set and alfalfa hay. About this time in 1926 he plowed under a big field of second growth sweet clover, after right angles to the first dragging.

You ought to see how it improved the looks of that field of alfalfa. We figure that, each time we thoroughly drag an alfalfa field, we give that field an extra year to live, on account of giving the in-cropping June grass a set-back.

Silo

With corn looking the way it does, I guess that those who have silos will be glad that they have them, and others will wish they had one. It isn't too late to get a silo, yet. This county could well stand several more. Who will lead off?

Last Week

Last week we sent to each farmer in the county a postal card that ought to be a reminder to do a good thing for the stock, the pocketbook and the farm. It reads as follows:

Alfalfa or Sweet Clover

Let us all sow alfalfa or sweet clover, on or before August 15. After that, we are not sure of growth enough to carry the crop through winter. Try even half an acre if not situated to try more. A half acre of alfalfa, sown now, will make ideal pasture next summer for a brood sow and her pigs. Alfalfa leaves are splendid in winter hen feed. Try a small piece for them. If you fear that the trial piece needs lime, and you lack it, liberal use of acid phosphate fertilizer will help the case. The Farmers' Warehouse still has some. See O. B. Scott in Burton Hotel, Grayling, for it and seed. Use 10 pounds seed per acre and inoculate it. A little piece of sweet clover sown now will be splendid calf pasture next summer. Let's have every farmer get started in alfalfa and sweet clover.

The U. S. Dept. of Agriculture States

(1) That last year the railroads of our country purchased ninety-three million, seven hundred fifty-nine thousand ties at a cost of one-hundred one million dollars.

(2) That the annual farm property loss from lightning may easily be estimated at twenty million dollars a year. This loss can, in large measure, be prevented by proper lightning rods. The cost of lightning protection is more than justified when the added personal safety and avoidance of temporary deprivations, as well as the saving of property, are considered.

(3) Bacterial wilt causes many alfalfa stands to die out.

(4) More than 500,000 farmers market grain cooperatively.

French and Pit Silos

The county agent has a bulletin showing how to make French and pit silos. Do you want to borrow it? The bulletin says: "The trench silo has been in use for centuries, and there are thousands being constructed every fall, so there is no experiment about them."

Ten Ways To Go Broke

The Agricultural College of Tennessee has suggested the following ways for a man to go broke farming. They are not guaranteed except for Tennessee, but we'll bet a cookie they will work up here.

1. Grow only one crop.
2. Keep no livestock.
3. Regard chickens and a garden as nuisances.
4. Take everything from the soil and return nothing.
5. Don't stop guinea or grow cover crops; let the top-soil wash away, then you will have "bottom land."
6. Don't plan your farm operations. It's hard work thinking—trust to luck.
7. Regard your woodland as you would a coal mine; cut every tree, sell the timber, and wear out the cleared land by cultivating it in corn.
8. Trust last to the man that the methods of farming employed by your grandfathers are good enough for you.
9. Be independent—don't join with your neighbors in any form of co-operation.

10. Mortgage your farm for every dollar it will stand to buy things you would have cash to buy if you followed a good system of farming.

Where Good Dairy Bulls Go

One good dairy bull goes to block every eight minutes.

It is unfortunate for the dairy industry that good bulls are sent to the butcher along with the mediocre and scrubs when their service is no longer needed in the herd. A careful estimate, says Dr. J. C. McDowell, of the Federal Bureau of Dairy Industry, shows that really high-class dairy bulls are going to the butcher at the rate of one every eight minutes from daylight to dark every day in the year. How to stop this great slaughter and keep these bulls for a lifetime of service is one of the great problems in dairying today.

A study of cow-testing records shows which are the good bulls and which the inferior ones. But, unfortunately, by the time these records are available most of these bulls have been slaughtered. Doctor McDowell says that it is of little use to learn how good a bull was after he is dead, so he is urging that some system of exchange be started at once among owners of well-bred bulls in order that such animals may be kept until the daughters have demonstrated their sire's true value.

C. O. McCullough, M. Simpson, Rolla Brink, Hugh Oaks, and others of our citizens are off on the 4-day I. O. O. F. excursion to East Jordan. They went by the Ward road and expect a big time.

As handsome a field of clover as can be found in Michigan is on the "worthless plains" farm of H. Schreier, nine miles east of here, and he has a piece of oats which would soon reduce the exalted price of that grain if the crop in the state was equally as good.

During the thunder storm last week the south end of N. Michelson's big barn, near the cemetery, was splintered into kindling wood, electric wires were burned in the homes of L. T. Wright, W. F. Benkelman, Y. Salling, and C. T. Jerome, and several persons were severely shocked. No fires followed.

At a good roads convention recently a speaker said, that the day will come when a bad road will be a disgrace to a community, when we would no more invite a friend to pass over such a road than we would invite him to an unseemly room or to an unclean house and promptly call it "home."

Stewart Sicker has brought from his farm on the "worthless plains" near Cheney, a sample of his oat crop that for length of straw and amount of grain would be hard to beat, but what is better, the growth of clover, to which the land was seeded this year will average about a foot high and is a well high perfect stand. He ought to turn such worthless lands over to the Forestry Commission.

The nice thing about being a man is you don't have to stay home after you wash your head.

Rank Health With Thres. "Rat" Is Plan

By MARIE K. JOHNSON

As an educational subject for children, health should hold equal rank with the three "R's" in the curriculum of public schools. Doctors declare that a healthy, sturdy body is impossible for the child to have a healthy mind.

Neglect of childhood defects may result in permanent physical impairment later on. Many childhood ailments are traceable directly to malnutrition. High school students especially need a variety in foods for at this age their growth is rapid. The protein or "building food" should be abundant for high school boys and girls. When they buy their lunches high school pupils are apt to display a preference for chocolate sodas, cream puffs and candy. An appetizing luncheon put up at home is much to be preferred to the sort the boy or girl might obtain at the corner store near the school.

Meat is all right for the school luncheon but it should be put up in tempting form. It sliced thin it is more appetizing in sandwiches than if in thick pieces. Beverages or soups may be carried in thermos bottles, but the bottles must be carefully washed and aired daily after using.

Milk is recommended for an important place in the boy's or girl's diet because of its proteins, minerals, phosphorus and calcium, necessary for the development of the body and in the case of calcium and phosphorus to the building of bone and teeth. Evaporated milk has come into favor as a health builder for children as well as adults because by removal of 10 per cent of the water it is rendered more than twice as rich in food value as ordinary milk and by a process called homogenizing more digestible than bottled market milk.

Crisp lettuce and celery, carefully washed and dried, may be so wrapped in oil paper that they will be fresh and in good condition at lunch time. Lettuce should not be used in sand which for wilted lettuce is almost in digestible.

Cranberry Cultivation

In the past hundred years the area planted to cranberries has been gradually extended until now there are about 30,000 acres under vines with chief centers in eastern Massachusetts, central and southern New Jersey, central and northern Wisconsin, southwestern Washington and northwestern Oregon.

Anger an Incentive

Anger of any kind is naturally a sign of failure in getting our own way and an incentive to push ahead to get it. Suspect then your judgment if angry and postpone the matter. It's safer.—Pleikens County (Ala.) Herald.

Jack Rabbit Forced to Smash to Auto

A western physician returning from a professional call across the country stopped at a jack rabbit, says the Evansville Journal. The animal trotted along in front of the physician's car, apparently unaware that it was traveling 25 miles an hour. Here was a sporting chance to try out the runner made famous by Mark Twain. The physician sped his car from 25 to 30 miles, and then to 35. The rabbit held its place in the road apparently enjoying the race at that pace. Then the doctor turned on the gas to a speed of 40 miles an hour. The rabbit held the road until it seemed the car was gaining upon it and then hopped off into the brush at the side of the road. Thus it appears that the unknown speed of the famous animal has been established. Many a good bound dog has run itself almost to death in pursuit of a jack rabbit before it would give up the chase. Even the greyhound has never been able to carry on with a jack rabbit. It has taken an automobile to drive the jack from the field in race for speed. No doubt the jack is wondering what sort of a dog has come into its field to defeat it in a trial of speed.

Gospel in Form That Appeals to Tibetans

Tibetan printed books are printed from wooden blocks on very fine, colored paper manufactured in the country from the bark of a certain shrub. The pages are long and narrow. They are not bound into a volume, but lie loosely one above another. When not in use the leaves are inclosed in two wooden slabs, which are often finely carved, and tied with silk ribbons. The whole is wrapped in a beautifully embroidered silk cover. The sacred books of Tibet, produced in this way, are regarded with the greatest reverence. A lady missionary working on the borders of Tibet suggested to the British and Foreign Bible society that a part of the New Testament should be produced in Tibetan style. "This," reports the society, "has now been done. St. Mark has assumed a dress which will make a strong appeal to the Tibetans. They will be led from the attractive appearance to the contents, which are still more attractive, and we hope that many of them will be led to the Lord himself."

The Willow Does

A Vancouver writer attempts to answer the question, "Do animals weep?" Certain poets describe a stag when he is being hunted down by a hunter, but they have never seen a stag either weeping or laughing. Virgil describes a horse that wept behind its master's bier, but at a time long antedating that at which the writer lived. In short, there is no trustworthy evidence of the phenomenon. The weeping of animals would be improbable, if only because they do not comprehend what human beings are, and what they are doing, well enough to grieve about it. The case of the crocodile is different. It might very reasonably break down and cry every time it realizes it is a crocodile.

Bring On Your Victims

"Well," said the bearded physician, "I find that you are suffering from an assorted crop of suppressed desires. You are also the fortunate possessor of three types of complexes: superior, inferior and ulterior. Your thyroid gland is slightly out of focus, while neurotically your reactions are very poor. I find definite traces of dual personality and chronic melancholia. You live in a dream world and are mixed up in five or six interlocking personalities. I think you are perfectly safe. Go ahead. No jury will convict you."

"Thanks, Doc," gratefully answered Hamlet. "Do you know where I can have a dagger sharpened?"

Coffined in Coconut

In Honolulu may be seen two cocoanut tree caskets, woven to represent in effigy King Liloa, who reigned over Hawaii in 1500 A. D., and his great-grandson, Leno-kama koihi. Inside the caskets are the bones of the kings. Such cocoanut fiber caskets, shaped somewhat like an Egyptian mummy case, are extremely rare. These were found in one of the ancient burial caves of Hawaii. The Hawaiians often secreted the bones of dead kings in inaccessible caves to prevent desecration by an enemy.

Herculean Viewpoint

A colored man who owned a large wagon and a small horse was hired to haul away some trash from a home. The trash contained many bricks and made an awkward load. As he was ready to drive away, the owner of the house said to him: "If you intend to haul such large loads you need a larger horse." The colored man replied: "If you had to lift me up every morning like I do you would think he is heavy enough."

"Jingoism"

Jingo is supposed to be derived from the mountain soldiers of Basque, who were employed by Edward I in Wales. The common oath of these Basque soldiers was "by Janko." The modern use of Jingo really dates from McDermott's music hall song of 1878, when war with Russia was threatening Great Britain. The first line of the song ran: "We don't want to fight, but by Jingo, if we do."

No Cause for Sorrow

Having met various members of the intelligentsia, it is hard for us to burst out crying over the scientist's assertion that the intelligentsia is committing race suicide.—San Diego Union.

"A man dat minds his own business," said Uncle Eben, "is sure to be unpopular wit folks dat find his business of deir own mind."—Washington Star.

Signs Never Fail

"Pa," said Clarence, "do you believe in signs?" "Some of them, son," replied his dad. "When I get home and find your ma in an exceptionally good humor, with an exceptionally good dinner ready for me, I know it is a sign I'll have to shell out, and when I get home and find her looking like a thunderstorm it is a sign I'm gonna get hell before the evening is over."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Why we sell the DUNLOP TIRE

FOR 39 YEARS Dunlop has been building the world's supreme tire. Dunlops wear longer because Dunlop knows how to build better at each vital point.

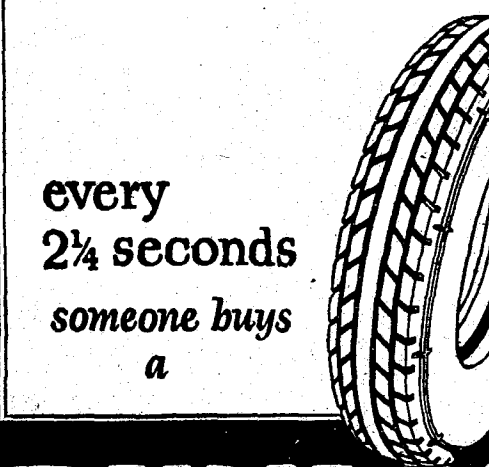

Take the hidden carcass beneath the tread. Dunlop owns its own cotton mills for no other purpose than to spin the best long-fibre cotton into the famous cable-twist cord that goes into this carcass.

The extra strength in these cords means an added factor of safety against constant load and pounding of roads—longer life and greater mileage.

The extra "stretch" enables the carcass to give under severe blows, and to come back into its original position without internal injury.

The Dunlop tread—the toughest rubber development known—wears slowly and smoothly, making sure that you get out of your Dunlops, all the extra mileage that added care and longer experience have built into them. We recommend that you put Dunlops on your car.

BE UNCLE SAM'S GUEST THIS SUMMER

(By Erwin Greer, President Greer School of Electrical & Automotive Trades, Chicago, Ill.)

The automobile travel to the parks during the last few years has shown a steady and large growth.

A million is a lot of people. But the national parks are numerous, extensive and attractive. The prediction that one million motor tourists will this year go by automobile to visit our national playgrounds is not based only on hope or optimism, but upon facts.

Of course, you don't know how to go, where to go, what to take, how to do it.

But the National Parks' people in Washington know, and they have a pleasant way of making it easy for you. Write them your hopes and they will tell you what to do.

They will, for instance, send you booklets about the parks. These booklets contain all known information about the parks except the best kind of carburetor and how to run on the rim without destroying the inner tube. First, you want to go touring to Yellowstone. You will draw one hundred and ten pages, including a wonderful lot of pictures. In the book you will find a general description of what is to be seen in the park, of course. But that you could get from a guide-book or an encyclopedia. So you turn over a page and learn that the National Park service has established an official bureau of information in a building near the superintendent's office in the park for the use of tourists, free of all charges. Rules and regulations, containing general information, of all national parks, and automobile maps of the Yellowstone National Park, are on hand for free distribution.

If you are interested in camping your expenses then, will be, so much for gas and oil, so much for food, so much for equipment, add a very small fee ($1.50 is the maximum) for a season ticket for your car in a park, and you have totaled your expenses. Some families camp all summer long, at an expense far less than they could live at home, and have a healthy, happy, enjoyable vacation at small cost. Others, less accustomed to depending upon themselves, tour from hotel to hotel and even that does not cost so much, albeit much more than frying one's own beans and bacon and diving in a suit of khaki.

There is not much time between January 1, 1929, and March 4, when he goes out of office, he pointed out, for such a conference, with submission of findings of a treaty, if there should be a treaty, to the senate for ratification. While he has no plan to call a conference of this character, his mind is not foreclosed on the subject, as circumstances might develop where such a meeting of the three powers might bring good results.

The President thinks it is too early now to judge the effects of the conference just held.

The failure of the conference to agree will not have any serious effect on the peace of the world, in the opinion of the President.

COOLIDGE WILL NOT BE 1928 CANDIDATE

President Amplifies Earlier "I Do Not Choose" With Definite "No."

Rapid City, S. D.—All doubt as to just what President Coolidge meant when he said that he did not "choose" to be a candidate next year was removed in press conference and in talks with visitors.

The President means that he is through, that he will retire on March 4, 1929, and that another man will take his place. His statement was not a trial balloon or a piece of political maneuvering. Even though the convention next summer should insist on nominating him, he would still refuse to be a candidate.

To O. H. P. Shelley, former Republican national committeeman in Montana, and Frank Hazleback, present state chairman, who called at the executive office, the President is represented as having disclosed the thought back of his withdrawal announcement.

When they urged him to reconsider the President is said to have replied: "There are plenty of other men in the party. Ten years is a long time to be President."

The President is cheerfully prepared to retire to a life of private work. It is already being predicted that he will be a Presidential candidate again in 1932, but the lingering hope which his friends held that he would reconsider his determination when the time came must now be abandoned.

A great load has been lifted from the mind of the President. Those close to him have noted it particularly. His nerves are relaxed. He greeted the press conference with a smile and a chuckle and asked how they had enjoyed the Wild West day at Deadwood.

He has not given serious thought as yet to what he will do when he retires from the Presidency. Work has usually come to him so fast that he believes he will not have to go out hunting a job in 1929.

His statement of a few days ago, in which he said he did not choose to run for President, had seemed to him so clear and definite that he does not know of any amplification he could make to it. His secretary, Everett Sanders, and his stenographer, Erwin Geisler, were the first to know of it, he explained, as it was necessary to have it typed, but it was his wish to confide it first to the members of the press.

In discussing the effects of the Geneva conference and, the President again made his future plans clear, in an incidental way.

He had heard a rumor that he might call another disarmament conference in 1929, but stated there was no foundation for this.

NO ENCUMBRANCE

He—And your dad owns this estate with no encumbrances on it, you say? She—None but ma and myself.

NOT BOSS AT HOME

Hubby—Oh, wife! I've been promoted to boss in the office. Wife, Yes, in the office maybe.

STUCK UP

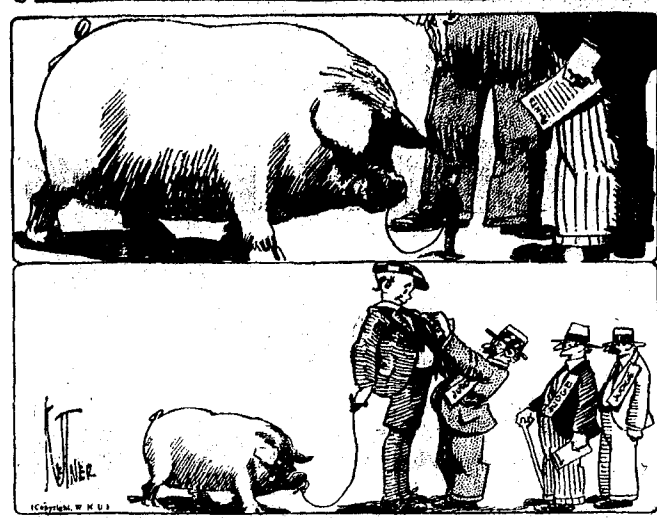

He—Y' don't need t' feel so stuck up, just because your dad made all his dough in glue.

Before and After the Award

INTO THE ROUGH

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

THE caddies at the country place where we were staying were coming in from the links with their hands and pockets full of balls that they had picked up in the tall grass along the edges of the straightaway where the rough, uncut grass was growing. These rescued balls were the evidences of ambitions which had failed, of attempts which had fallen short of anticipation, of a last effort which had not been recovered.

I walked along the rough, uncut edges of the smooth award where the players were wont to drive their balls. I watched the players as they drove off. The ball would make an apparently good start along the fair way and then curve off into the rough. The tall grass had been tramped over and pulled aside and examined with the most meticulous care, but it was not easy to find the ball once it got into the uncut grass and many a man had lost his game by an unexpected drive into the rough.

There are pitfalls and hazards and rough places which lie along the fair way of every man's life, all of which he must attempt to avoid, and if one learns at the outset, that is in youth to steer clear of them, he gains skill and adroitness and discovers how to address the ball, so to speak, so that there is less and less danger of his going into the rough. I do not know golf very well, but I have watched the processes of life pretty closely and I am sure the analogy holds.

When Hedges was a young boy he was very impulsive. Whatever came along he was willing to try at least once—gambling, drinking, and things that were worse. He made a great many friends; they had bad habits they led him astray, and he gave little heed to the direction in which he was going. It was a case of thoughtless carelessness driving into the rough.

He is a middle-aged man now, and his early habits have been confirmed. No matter how carefully he attempts to drive the ball generally goes astray. He never learned control, and learning would have been comparatively easy. He wasn't looking in the right direction, he didn't take the proper precautions, he followed carelessly and passionately his own impulses, and he had driven his whole life into the rough.

Franklin's finances have gone into the rough, and with all his seeking at fifty he is unable to recover the lost ball. The reason is pretty clear. He was not willing to advance slowly. He wanted to make a hole in one, as it were, to get rich quickly without the effort and the deliberate care which are necessary to safe and successful progress. He drove furiously without calculating either distance or direction. He invested in every get-rich-quick scheme which presented itself. He wanted to beat all his competitors around the course, and he went hopelessly into the rough as, under such circumstances, men are pretty certain to do.

NO MORE "DULL" SEASONS

Once an ingenious merchant discovered that the logical time to advertise was when business was slow and in the periodic dull seasons of the year. Ridiculous as it may seem, before that discovery the average business man slowed down in his advertising when business slowed down. He generally ended up the dull seasons with a quarterly sale, but as far as his newspaper advertising was concerned there was no advertising when there was no business.

The modern business man holds a different conception of the purposes and uses of newspaper advertising. When business is not up to his satisfaction he brings it up through increased advertising so that now the merchant, schooled in productive advertising, knows no dull seasons nor diminished business.

There are a few phases of business which have always been known to all business men. Among these are the alternating busy and dull periods of the year, month, week and day. A systematic, effective and economic plan of advertising had to be constructed upon a full knowledge of this business cycle. Business has ever come without coaxing before Christmas, at Easter time, and in the fall. Extensive advertising has been found to be the only remedy for the business depression epidemic between these three rush periods. People have a habit of confining their shopping to the last of the month, the last three days of the week and the last shopping hours of the day.

From experience merchants have learned that newspaper advertising has successfully eliminated the rush periods and spread the volume of business more evenly over the day, week, month and year. It has prevented congestion, simplified salesmanship and merchandising and increased business.
